

Income and Consumption inequality in Taiwan, 1981 - 2023

Bo-Yan Huang*

June 2025

1 Introduction

2 Data

3 Household-level inequality

3.1 Equivalizing

3.2 Inequality in Earnings

3.3 Cyclical Dynamics of Earnings Inequality

3.4 From Individual to Household Inequality

3.5 Private Transfers and Asset Income

3.6 Government Redistribution

3.7 From Income to Consumption Inequality

3.8 Cyclical Dynamics of Consumption Inequality

3.9 Food Consumption and Housing Services

4 Conclusion

*Department of Economics, National Taiwan University, Taipei, Taiwan

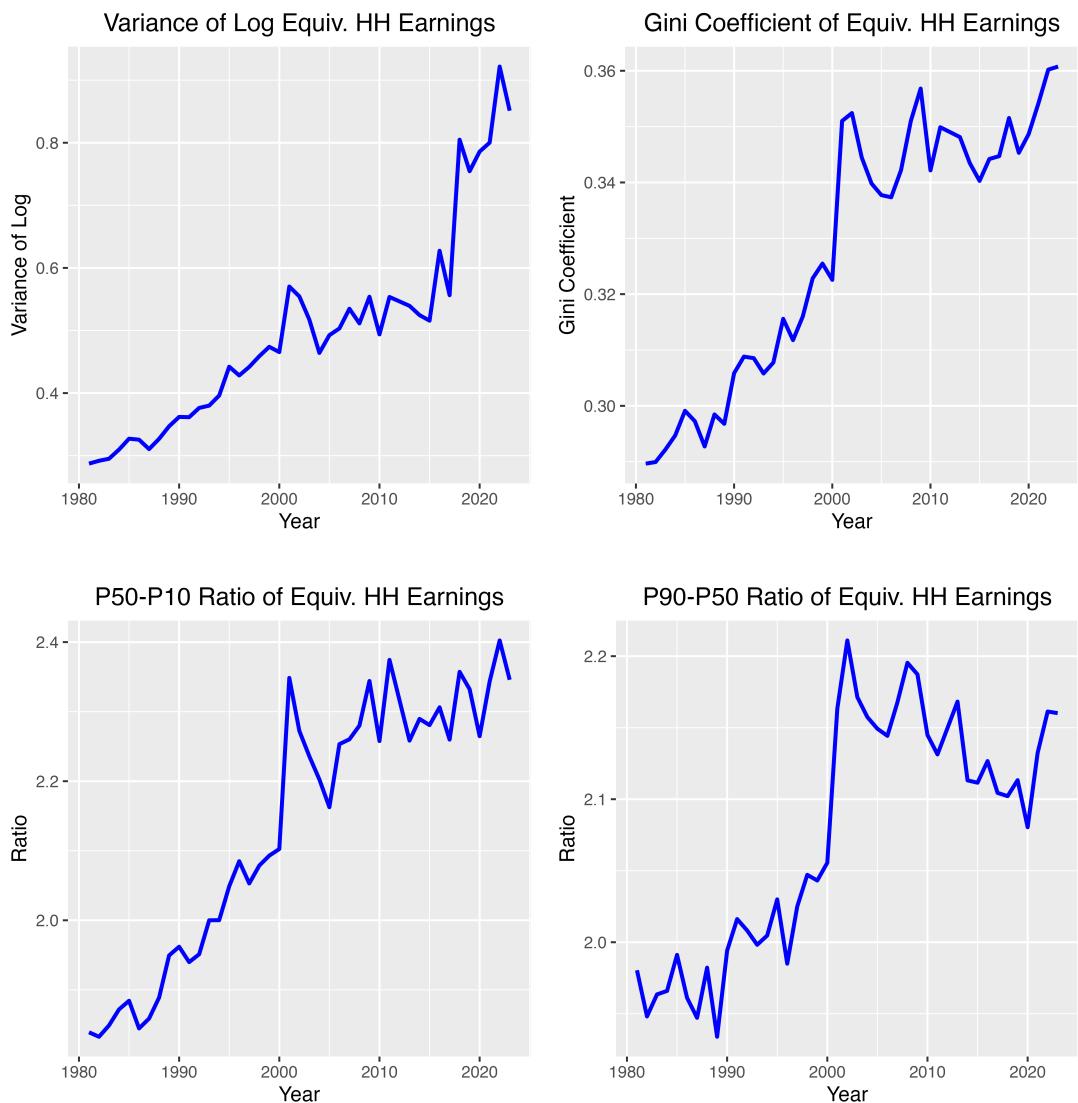

Figure 1: Various Measures of Household Earnings Inequality

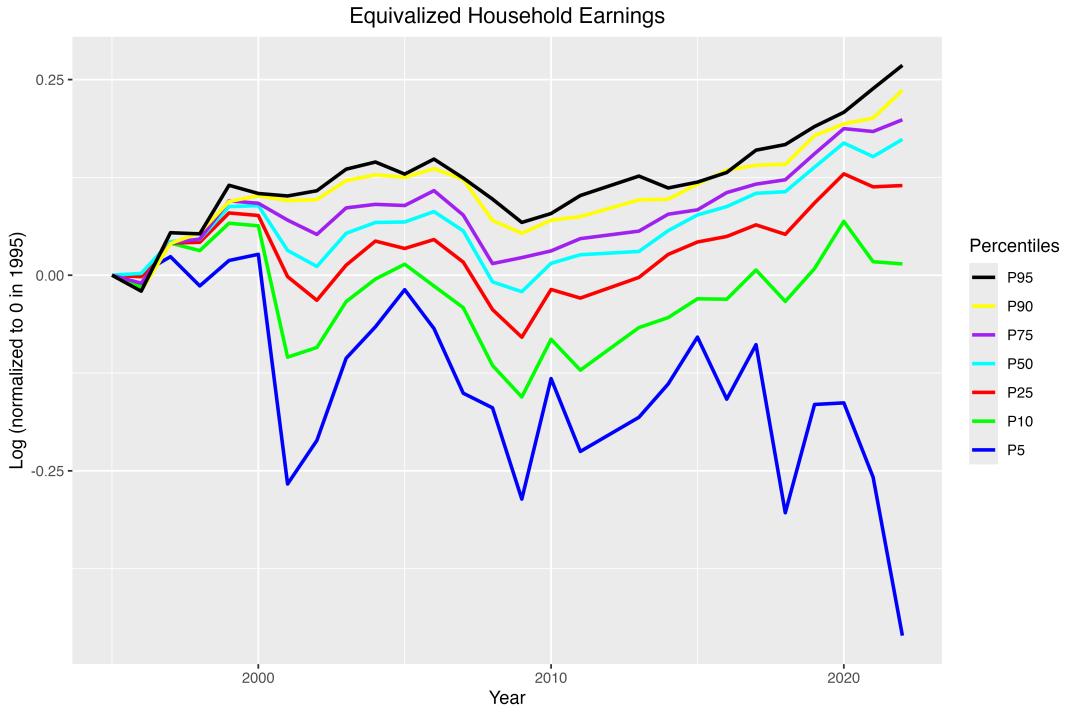

Figure 2: Percentiles of the Household Earnings Distribution

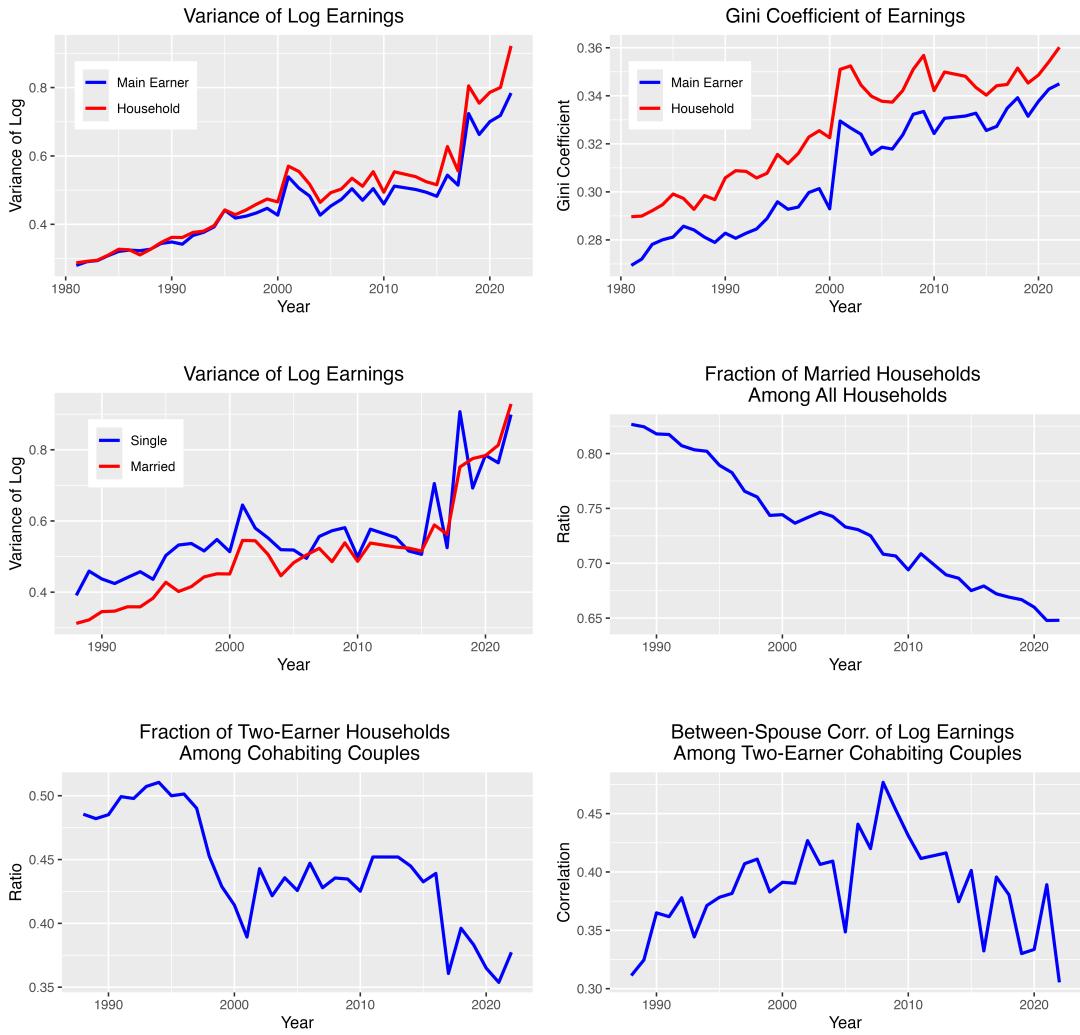

Figure 3: Understanding the role of the Family for Earnings Inequality

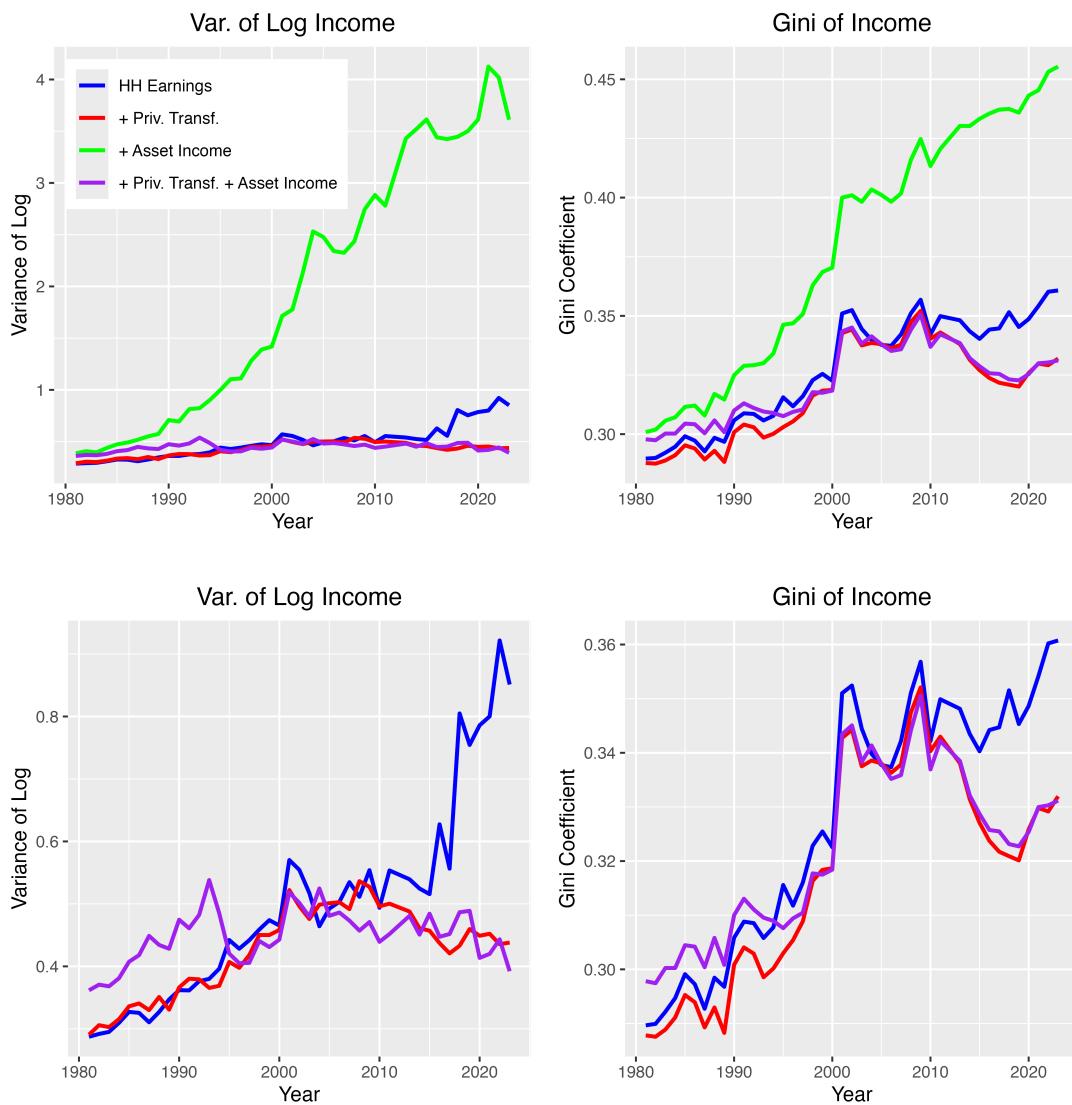

Figure 4: From Household Earnings to Pre-Government Income

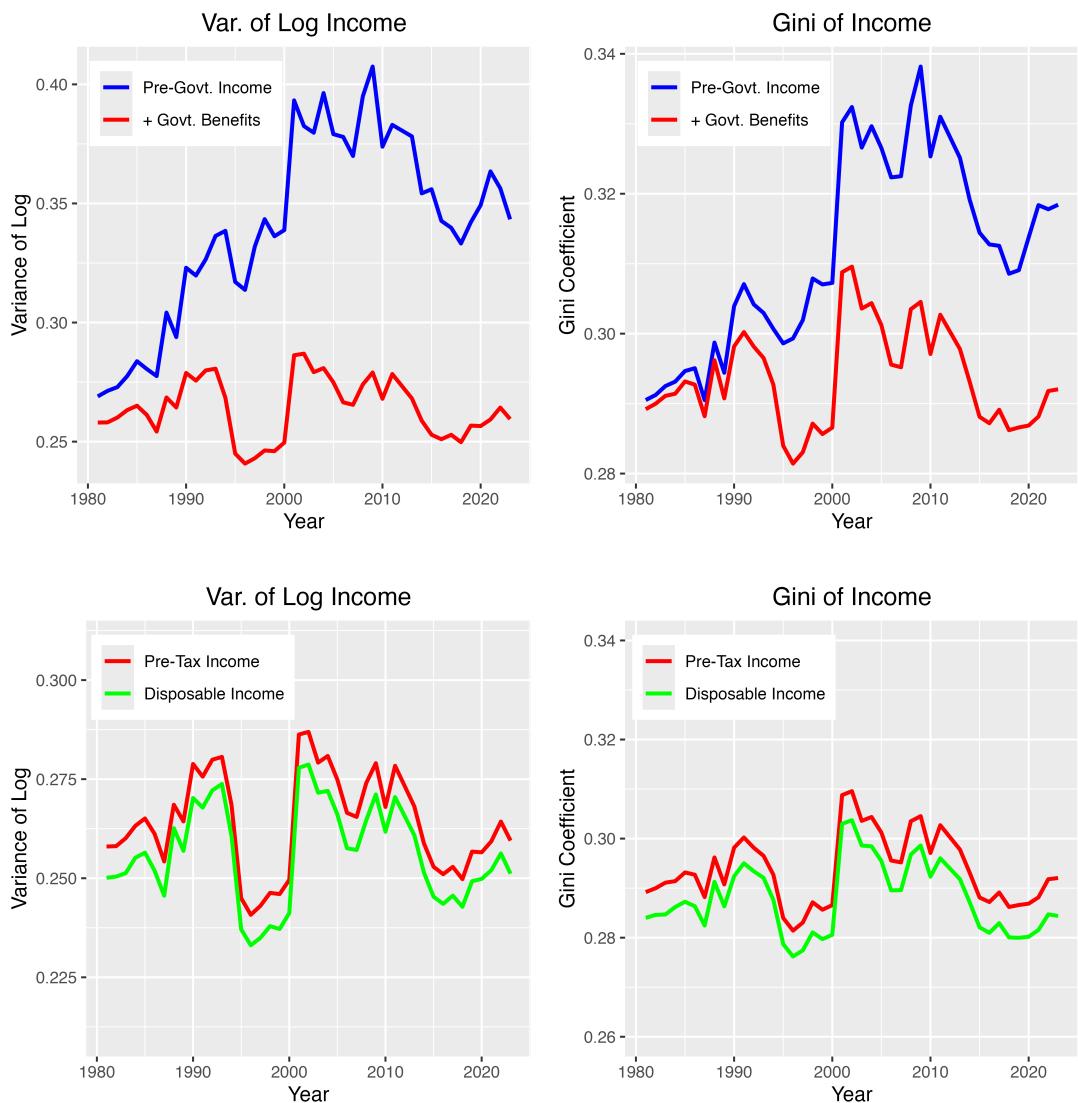

Figure 5: From Pre-Government to Disposable Income

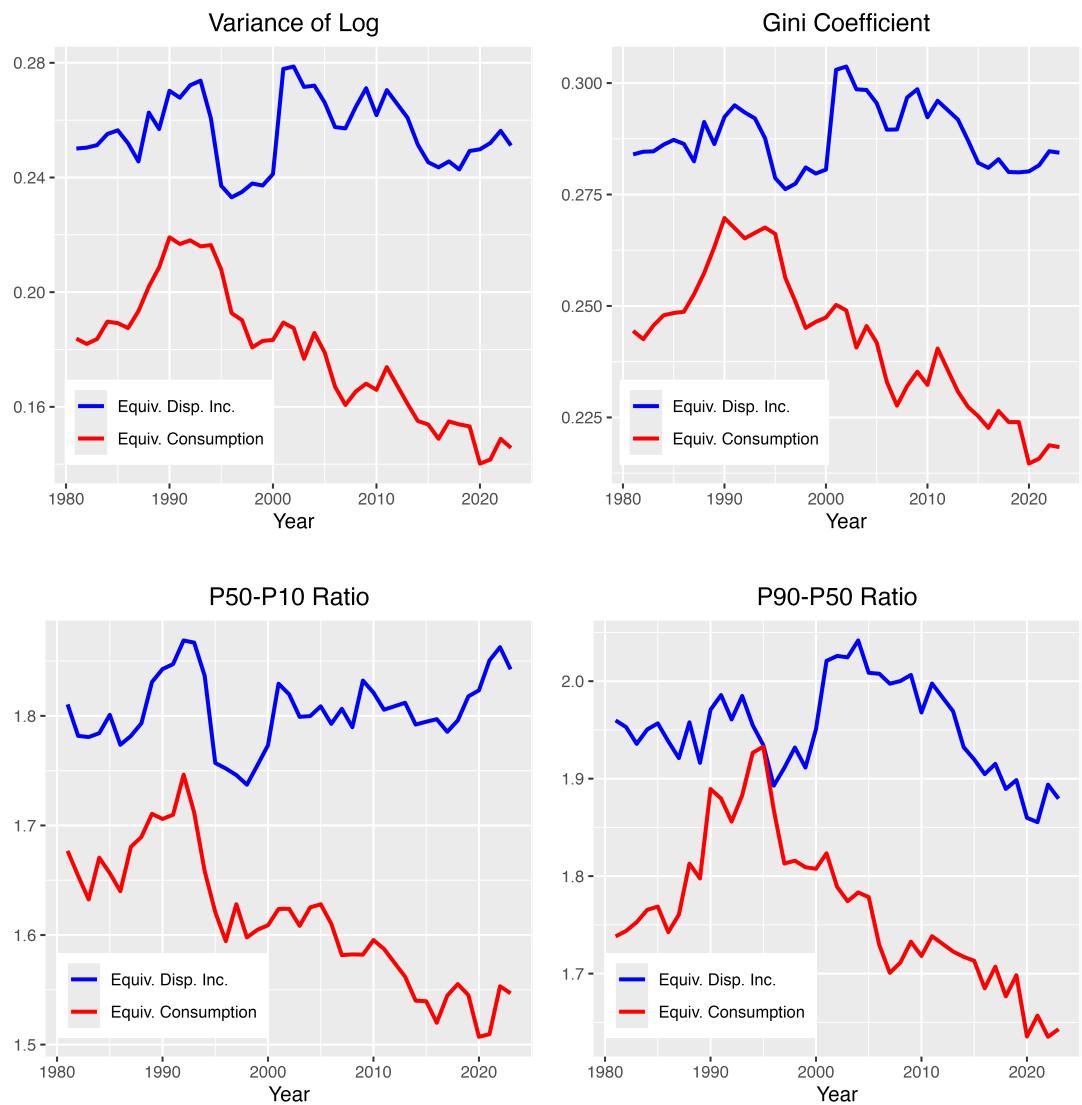

Figure 6: From Disposable Income to Consumption

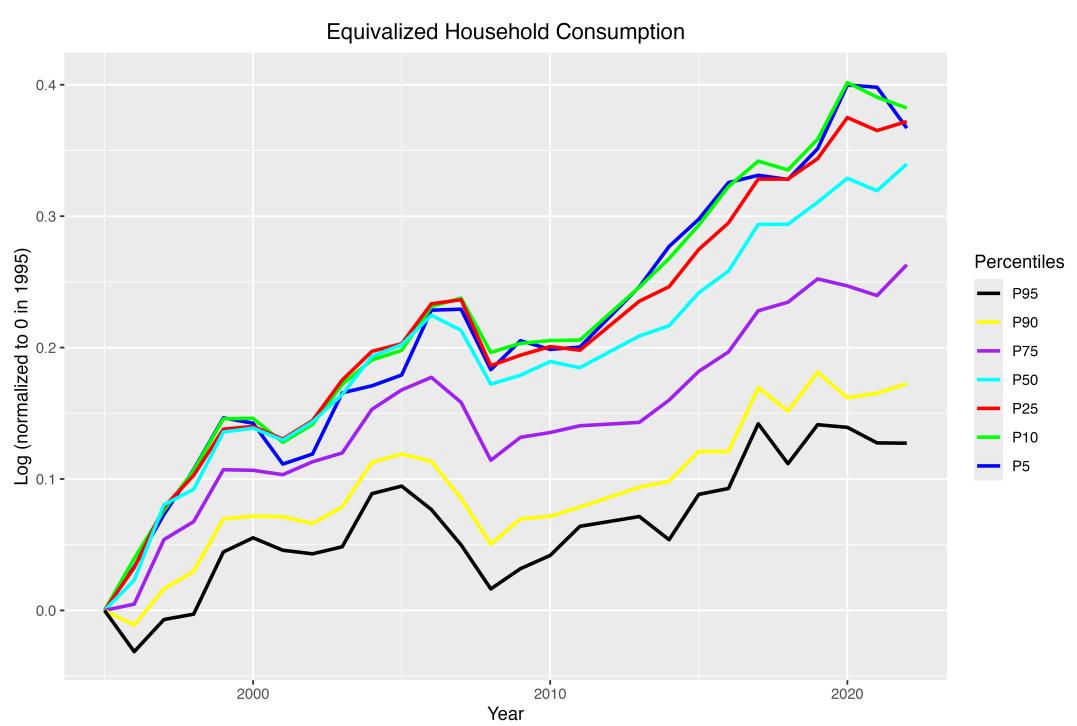

Figure 7: Percentiles of the Household Consumption Distribution

Figure 8: Food and Housing Consumption Inequality